1 Devon wore a Monique Lhuillier gown. Her bouquet, created by Flowers by Donaroma's (donaromas.com), contained pale-pink roses. Russ wore a blazer and chinos by Ralph Lauren. His boutonniere, a nod to his love of fly-fishing, incorporated a chartreuse fly, which was created by a friend who is a fishing guide. 2 The wedding was held at The Allen Farm, booked through wedding planner Patrie Grace (withgracemv.com). A friend officiated the ceremony. "He wrote the ceremony and we wrote our own vows, which made for a special experience," Devon says. "At one moment, all three of us were crying and laughing at the same time." 3 The reception was held in a tent provided by Big Sky Inc. (bigskytent.com). 4 Tables were decorated with arrangements of roses and hydrangeas. 5 Dinner, catered by V. Jaime Hamlin and Sons (vhamlincatering.com), included gazpacho with shrimp, rack of lamb, and grilled striped bass. 6 The couple performed their first dance to "Lovely Day," by Bill Withers, played by The Sultans of Swing (thesultansofswing.com). 7 "Our family and friends gave amazing toasts, but the best part of the reception was when Russ surprised me by getting up on stage and performing a Rolling Stones song for me," Devon says.
